Our Colorado

Our Colorado

For Colorado! Our Colorado!
Where the sun shines every day throughout the year;
Where all good fellows are met together,
Where fair maidens ever hold tradition dear.
For Colorado! Our Colorado!
Where the Peak, our mighty mascot, towers above,
For Colorado! Our Colorado!
Here's to thee, our Alma Mater, thee we love!

CHEESE.

DENNIS.

WUBBEN.

TROWBRIDGE.

KING.

"I should like to advise anyone who is thinking of enlisting to join the aviation. We are the pets of the nation and it is simply because of the newness."

CHARLIE CHEESE.

"There is not much variety here in Camp Funston. Our daily routine is the same each day except every three days we go for meningitis culture."

"KERO" ROBERTS, '16.

"Am enjoying my work very much. Am under the direct supervision of Dr. (now Captain) Schneider and of course you know how I feel about that."

WESLEY DENNIS.
Medical Reserve Laboratory,
Hazellurst Field No. 1,
Mineola, Long Island, N. Y.

"Break loose, and come across with a letter. See how hard I am getting since I joined the army."

DALE MOYE,
U. S. Naval Station, San Diego.

"Speaking of old friends, one day last month when I was on pass in a city near here in a Y. M. C. A. but I heard my name called. Turning around I saw Johnny Herron. You can imagine how surprised and pleased I was to see him after these four and a half years."

MILTON KIMBALL,
117 U. S. Engineers, in France.

"The flying game is going well with me."

LIEUT. EUGENE P. WUBBEN,
in France.

"I would give a lot to be back in C. C. with you now. This is sure a great life."

LIEUT. DWIGHT L. SKINNER,
in France.

"We have had quite a wonderful Xmas here, even though it isn't like the ones I spend at home. They do all they can to make a man's Xmas as pleasant as they can when in the army."

SERG. ARTHUR KING,
Camp Funston, Kans.,
1st Battery R. O. F. C.

"I have seen the University of Illinois play here twice. The games don't seem much faster than the C. C. games last year."

GERALD L. SCHLESSMAN,
Aviation School,
Champaign, Ill.

"There are three of us here from Colorado College. By the way, in one of our last exams the men from C. C. passed the highest in the class. 'Egg' Martin was first, I was second and Dockstader was third."

CHARLES HARRISON, '16.
San Pedro.

"One must have a pretty humdrum sort of memory behind him who hasn't got Colorado to carry around in it."

DWIGHT SPENCER,
Naval Aviation Detachment,
Cambridge, Mass.

"This is certainly a most interesting game; but I am glad the end of the training is near. Now that I am started all I want is more, and I never wanted anything so much as to be a really good pilot."

LIEUT. ROBERT R. NELSON,
Royal Flying Corps.

"These are busy days for us. Mack Davis and a lot of College men are here some where or other and I see some of them occasionally. We are all working hard for there is not one of us but expects to go to France pretty soon."

CAPT. HARRY L. BLACK,
Camp Funston, Kans.

"Training is hard but it puts a fellow in fine condition for the big work before us. I certainly appreciated the Tiger I received this afternoon. No days like good old days of 'C. C.'"

PETER HOLM,
349th Ambulance Co.,
Camp Dodge, Iowa.

"It's 21 below zero and nothing to do but see that the barracks doesn't catch fire."

PHIL FRANTZ,
Camp Funston, Kans.

THE ALLIES OF C. C.

SENIORS.

They are the group at the head, the body upon whom it devolves to uphold the pride and the name and the promising future of Colorado College, just as America is depended upon to make the world safe for Democracy.

JUNIORS.

Theirs is the present great task; they are bearing the brunt of the internal struggle to uphold the College. They are our France.

SOPHOMORES.

Perhaps it is because of the grim bull-dog tenacity with which they have held their own in class strife; they have repelled the offensive of the Frosh as did the English that of the Germans.

FRESHMEN.

It is not because they have not yet been heard from, but because theirs is the task to scale the heights and engage the foe in their own might, all as only their part in the great cause.

In Passing Through This Rogues' Gallery

Did You Notice

The way they bawled out Mildred De Longchamps? You don't suppose she really camouflages, do you?

That cute little side glance that Ed Hughes is putting on? Who do you suppose he meant it for?

That would-be cute little kink in Thad Holt's hair? But it's a cute little grin at that.

That Flynn didn't have his picture taken, and yet they said nice things about him?

How well the engraver brought out Parson Lane's heaven?

That they tried to bawl out Ber Crockett? Sorter deep.

How Hortense Scott was stepped on by the cruel writer-up?

That she looks as if she deserved it after all?

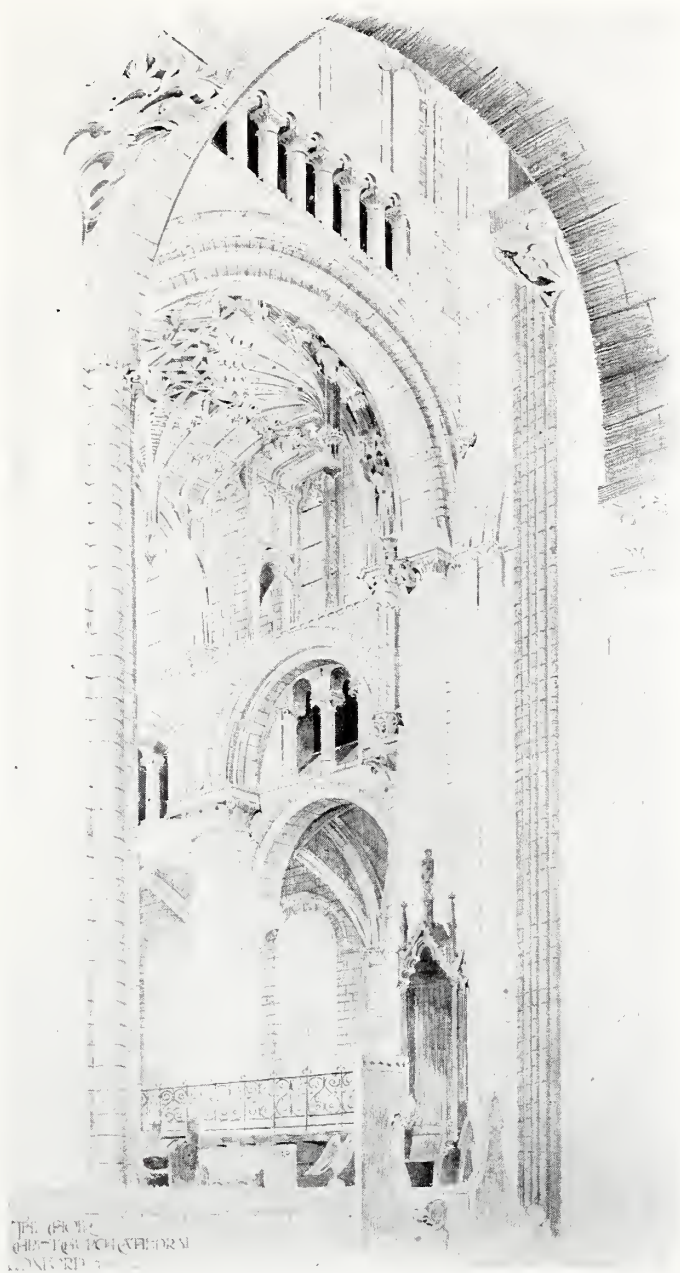

That wild look in Don McClintock's eyes? No, it wasn't the photographer's fault at all. Perhaps he did the best he could with the material at hand.

That they actually got to the "Truth" about Tommy Thompson? The bunch must have snitched.

That the pictures and write-ups ended on the right-hand page? We did.

ORGANIZATIONS IN HEAVEN

Scene: Heaven. Picture an ideal background.

Time: One Million, A. D.

(Enter St. Peter with the Keys.)

St. Peter (to himself): And now is the time of our discontent. Here, in these golden regions, are we forced to list to the prayers and supplications of the sinners and the good. But hark, what shadowy form comes here?

(Enter Hayse Tucker, slain.)

St. Peter: Thou shape, what brings you here in this place? Thou seemest of the nether world.

Tuck: Sir, I would crave admittance to your dreamy realm.

St. Peter: And by what right?

Tuck: Sir, I presided over at least twenty Student Commission meetings before succumbing to the wiles of the girls.

St. Peter: You may enter; you have had torture enough on earth. (Enter Freddie Coldren). And you, who may you be?

Freddie: Sir, I would crave admittance to the delights of Paradise. I must needs be where the harps do twang their tune.

St. Peter: What can you play?

Freddie: I can play up the Glee Club, romp all over the guitar, swing a wicked pick on the mandolin, and gently stroke the Palestinian harp.

St. Peter: Here's a shoe horn; put on your twelves and don't fall too hard. (To himself): Another good man lost. What, another shade? (Russell Offutt enters with his best fussing smile.) Here you, you are a Kappa Sig, aren't you? Explain it!

Sammy: Well, Sir, you see, Sir, it was like this, Sir. They had a pretty nice house, Sir, and he had a pretty good line, and well, Sir, I was only a Freshman, Sir, and you see—

St. Peter: Well, come on in; you can sit over there with Abe Lincoln and Stephen. You couldn't help it. (A shade lounges by, plinking his mandolin.) Halt there, where are you going? What's your name?

Shade: Oh, I didn't see you. Name's Ferril, I'm a Phi Delt; I'll just pick out a good harp and then we can talk terms.

St. Peter: Well, if that's the case you can leave your mandolin as you take The Plunge. I'll send it down by the rest of the Bunch when they come up.

(Thornton Thomas arrives, takes off his "C" sweater, and mops his brow.)

Tommy: Gee, that's worse than the Boulder game.

St. Peter: Satan saw you leave and he has just wired for another stoker. The rest of the gang's at work already. So long. (Up bobs Paul Hamilton.) Well?

Pablo: The Phi Gams sent me up to say that they are busy entertaining a brother from the West but will be up in a minute.

St. Peter: Well, tell Bill Campbell that he needn't bother to make the trip. Too much Work. Next!

(Og Verner strides in, minus his pin.)

St. Peter: Say, Og, why the dickens don't you hold that gang down to their studies? Can't you get rid of Honnen?

Og: Aw, Pete, these war engagements are rather demoralizing, but I'll go back and do my best. (Exit)

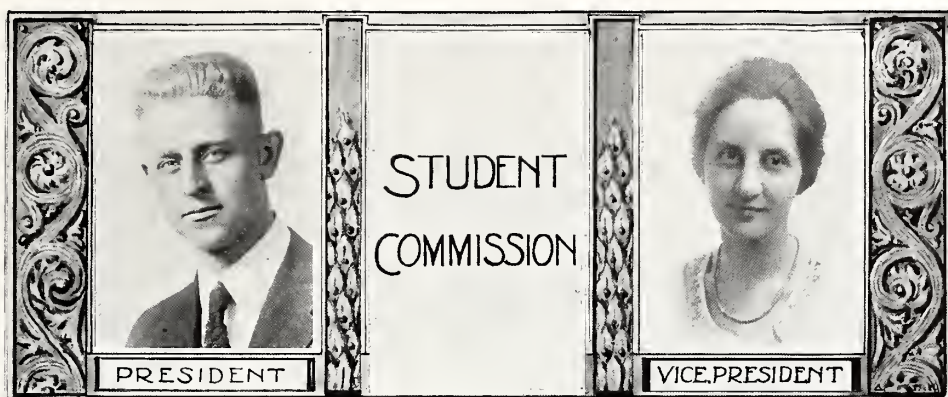

St. Peter: All right, Gabriel, you may sound recall now. It's time for honey. (Exit)

The Inter-Fraternity Conference

The Conference is composed of two representatives from each of the five national fraternities on the campus, together with two members of the Faculty. One Junior man is elected from each fraternity each year and holds office for two years. The purpose of the body is to promote harmony and a unity of interest among the different groups.

Inter-Fraternity Dance

On March 2, at Cossitt Gymnasium, there was held the first Interfraternity Dance, participated in by the five national fraternities on the campus. The purpose of the general get-together was to attempt to unite more closely the different bunches on the campus and to give all the men of each fraternity a chance to get acquainted with the men of the other bunches. The affair was a huge success and proved that the animosity which is commonly supposed to run riot among the various fraternities at any one college is, if not an unknown quantity, at least little evident at Colorado College.

It is the hope of the Interfraternity Council to make the Interfraternity Dance an annual event, but as yet no definite action has been taken. It is a good thing in the life of the College and should be made a permanent institution, in the opinion of the members of the fraternities themselves.

Tau Kappa Alpha

On June 9, 1916, there was installed at Colorado College a chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, the national oratory and debating fraternity. The qualifications for membership in this fraternity are a unanimous favorable vote by the active chapter, and membership on an intercollegiate debating team. The installation of this chapter has done much to heighten the interest in debating at Colorado College and to show recognition to the men who put their time on the different debates.

At present there have been initiated into the chapter eleven students, six of them now being active members.

Sigma Delta Psi is an honorary athletic fraternity whose members are those men who satisfactorily pass twelve athletic tests which demand great ability. These tests embrace all manner of sports, comprising such events as football punt, baseball throw, track and field work, and indoor stunts. For the past two years the fraternity has died down somewhat due to the unsettled conditions prevailing in the College. However, there have been at Colorado College six Senior members and eight Junior members, the second largest chapter in the country.

Military Training in Colorado College

On April 10, 1917, the men of Colorado College assembled for the first time in the history of the institution for military drill. Under the instruction of Major Henry Leonard two hundred and fifty men were divided into squads and companies. During the week of April 10-17 the work under Major Leonard progressed wonderfully and instruction was given in all of the simpler of the squad and company formations. When Major Leonard was called to Washington for government service Sergeant John Dross of the United States Coast Artillery became commandant. In the latter part of April forty-three men of Colorado College were accepted and went to the Reserve Officers' training camp at Fort Riley to work for commissions. When Sergeant Dross was called away, Lieut. William W. Hite, Jr., a retired officer of the Kentucky National Guard, assumed command.

For the first part of the school year 1917-18 nothing was done in the way of military training; however, in the last week in November drill was re-established on a voluntary basis and some thirty men reported to Lieut. Hite. At the beginning of the second semester when training became compulsory there were about one hundred and sixty men out. This made the drill very much worth while. Lieut. Hite appointed his cadet officers from those men who had been at Fort Riley and had been unable to win commissions; thus, the instruction part of the drill was excellent. Soon an examination was held to determine the permanent officers. As soon as the "dummy" guns were procured the men were instructed in the manual of arms.

Now a Reserve Officers' Training School is the aim of all those interested in the drill. By the united efforts of the Faculty, Lieut. Hite, and those Colorado College men who have won commissions, we hope to gain the corps.

Red Cross Work

When the men of the college began military training, the women voted to "do their bit" by drafting themselves into Red Cross work. The following committee was placed in charge:

Miss Marion Churchill, Chairman.

Lucile McWhorter
Catherine Clark
Gladys Grafton

Leah Gregg
Elizabeth Davison
Anne Byrd Kennon

Miss Frances Plummer has assisted in carrying on the work and Miss Miriam Perkins has helped greatly by giving her services and her car. The hearty co-operation and assistance of the Red Cross headquarters has made the work possible. Mrs. Duniway kindly opened her home to us for the girls who did hand sewing.

A Red Cross benefit dance was given on March 23 to help with the financing of our work. Miss Leah Gregg managed the affair.

The work has been compulsory for all girls in college except those few who had some good reason for exemption. The time has been gladly given and every girl feels that it has been time well spent. It is inspiring to think that during that period almost every student in Colorado College was doing something to help his country in this time of need.

Before You Look

At that clever cut on the opposite page, please allow us to ramble a little about the College.

Activities

In the first place, there is no doubt but that the College is somewhat of an active place. In fact, it has been suspected of showing several signs of life. However, we are not saying that Bo Lewis is one of these, though they do tell us that when it comes to fussing he even has the engaging Gilly backed clean off the map. But perhaps you are wondering what we think about

Athletics

To tell you the truth, we had about concluded that we weren't going to have any more of this form of activity, but somehow the athletes reconsidered the proposition and are going on with the sports. Perhaps the only reason was that the Phi Delt's wanted a few more sweaters hanging around the house. But at that they didn't do so much in the Campus League. And yet they say that the Sigs are an athletic bunch. Perhaps they have a chapter in the University of Mexico. Yes, with the rest of the tossers.

Dramatics

Always did have a fascination for the men of the College, especially about the time when She has a chance to show how much she thinks of Him. The only form of pantomime which we now have is the Pearsons Club, which has at last decided to hang out the crepe as a sign of defeat. As to

General Athletic Summary

Even with the abolition of spring athletics last year and the cessation on the part of the players of basketball this year, the athletic life of Colorado College has been of the best. With a great percentage of athletes gone to war, the green teams which were put out showed a world of fight and did well against odds in all their games.

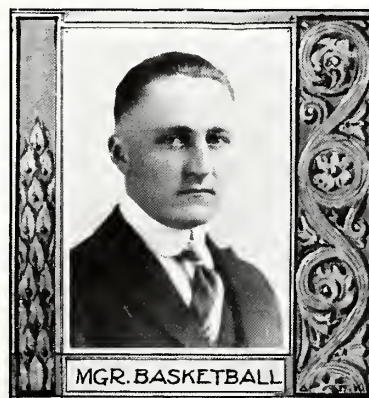

The chief item of interest in an athletic way during the year was the so-called "strike" of the basketball squad after playing two conference games. Although practically every demand which the men made was met, basketball was discontinued for lack of material. The grievances of the men centered around the attitude of the Faculty and the student body toward athletics, and the action was taken in an effort to better conditions. There was some agitation for a different system of control for athletics but the old Board was retained. The alumni system of control was suggested by some but not acted upon.

It is only fair to express some appreciation for the work which "Rothy" did for the different branches of sport this year. Even with his added duties of gym instructor, he gave to the men under his charge the best possible training and brought out the fight in them.

Football

But for the war, Colorado College would have had seven men of the greatest eleven in the history of the College back. However, the men that did get out to represent the College on the gridiron are a credit to the institution. They played the game every minute and fought the fight of Tigers.

UTAH, OCTOBER 27—C. C. 21, UTAH 0.

In the first conference game of the year the Tigers came forth with a brand of football that was unexpected to their followers. Playing a superior game in every respect, they outclassed the Mormons in each department. The Tigers played fast, clean ball and when the fray was over we had 21 points in our favor. Thomas, the veteran center, and Percy Sheppard, at quarter, both played brilliant ball. The team as a whole fought to the very last whistle and deserve much credit considering that there were only three letter men in the line-up. The new men worked like old "vets" and our hopes were raised towards having a winning team.

BOULDER, NOVEMBER 3—U. OF C. 18, C. C. 17.

At Boulder the following week, the Tigers faced their rivals of old. Boulder with practically a seasoned team were confident that the Tigers would cause them little trouble, but before the game was over they knew that Colorado College must have been there. Before the game had really started the Tigers had 17 points safely tucked away for future use. Bill Mimmack kicked a pretty goal from the field, Thompson, at right end, picked up two fumbles and raced for as many touchdowns. Boulder was completely bewildered and did not recover until it was almost too late. Not till the last quarter did they show any form and then when the Tigers were almost worn out, it was only possible for them to score two touchdowns. But that was enough to overshadow our few points. It took thirty-three Boulderites to score one more point than the Tigers massed up. That's how the Tigers fought and that's how we lost the game. Tucker deserves credit for the game that he played, but Verner and Flegal were the brilliant lights, Verner in his ever-effective offensive and defensive work and Flegal with his boot.

MINES, NOVEMBER 10—MINES 16, C. C. 7.

At Union Park, Denver, the Tigers went forth to meet "Poss" Parsons and his "dynamiters." Sore under the defeat that the Tigers handed them the previous year, the Miners were determined to take the long end of the score, and they did. At the very jump, the Miners sprung a surprise and scored a touchdown from a return kick. This play routed the Tigers somewhat but they did not give up. Until the last whistle the team fought as no other team from C. C. has. Even though the score was against us we did not lose because we out-fought them. Verner and Ainsworth were the players of the day. "Og" never failed to gain and did the bulk of the offensive work. "Batty" Ainsworth played a game that is rarely seen of a first year man. Time after time he broke through and caught the runner before he got started. It was this game that won "Batty" his all conference position.

AGGIES, NOVEMBER 17—C. C. 7, AGGIES 0.

The Tigers never forget some things and the Aggies are one of those things. We had been beaten twice and it was grim determination of the Tigers to get revenge on the "Farmers." The game was fast and clean but loosely played, neither team showing any particular form. The Aggies outplayed us according to figures but the Tigers won on a lone touchdown, which Weldie made after recovering a fumble. Verner, Mimmack and Ainsworth played excellent games individually. Flegal played his best defensive game of the year, twice stopping a "Farmer" on the one yard line.

DENVER UNIVERSITY, NOVEMBER 28—D. U. 28, C. C. 7.

At Union Park, Denver, the Tigers ended their season by playing Denver University. We had no hope of winning but we were determined to fight. Gibson of D. U. was the main scorer of the game, netting 21 points for his team. The Tigers gave the Ministers several scares during the game but were unable to push the ball over at the crucial moment. The only score that we made came when Tucker recovered an onside ball and slid over the line for a touchdown. This is the only game in which the Tigers were really beaten, but D. U. had the better team and it was no disgrace to lose to them. Verner played his last game for C. C. and his playing rivaled that of any half in the conference. Mimmack also played his last game and was a credit to the school. Ainsworth and Flegal were brilliant during the entire game.

CAPTAIN THORNTON THOMAS

Third Year—Center.

It was worth "Shorty" Donaldson's salary just to keep "Tommy's" shoulder in place. Showed the stuff all the time.

CAPTAIN-ELECT WALTER FLEGAL.

Second Year—End.

Every game made "Fat" surer of his All-Conference position. Punted with the best of them with very few blocked.

OGDEN VERNER

Third Year—Halfback.

On the offensive "Og" was one of the fastest and hardest hitting halfbacks in the state. Starred in every game.

HAYSE TUCKER

Third Year—Tackle.

"Tuck" showed his teeth in every game. Made the only touchdown against Denver University.

WILLIAM MIMMACK

Second Year—Halfback.

As a goal-kicker "Bill" hung up a record that won't be touched. Strong on offense though not in the best condition.

THOMAS THOMPSON

First Year—End.

A green man who made good with a rush. Two touchdowns against Boulder in fifteen minutes was "Tommy's" record.

ROY BRUMFIELD

First Year—Tackle.

"Butch" fought like fury at his position. Was in every play.

ALBERT AINSWORTH

First Year—Guard.

"Batty" was even mentioned for All-Conference honors before the end of the season. Spilled 'em behind the line half the time.

EDWARD HUGHES

First Year—Guard.

It took "Ed" to brace the Tigers in the Aggie game. Though a fractured arm hindered him, he was always there fighting.

WALTER HUGHES

First Year—Fullback.

Though fairly light for the job, "Walt" plunged his way through for some good gains. Just got mad and fought.

PERCY SHEPPARD
First Year—Quarterback.

"Perc" showed some mighty good headwork for a fairly green man. Could wriggle through the line, too.

RALPH WELDIE
First Year—Quarterback.

"Weldie" was fast on his feet and full of pep. Scored the only touchdown against Aggies.

ROBERT MORRIS.
First Year—Fullback.

"Dutch" was pretty green at the game but did his best whenever he got the chance.

VERNER THROUGH CENTER

 Middle Row—Flegal, Holt.
 Bottom Row—Brown, Honnen, Whitehead, W. Hughes.

Baskethall

Prior to the cessation of practice on the part of the athletes, the basketball team was going great guns in its conference games. With only Liljestrom and Thompson of last year's team in harness again, "Rothy" had to develop a new organization. However, the appearance of Honnen, Whitehead, and Simpson from the champion Terrors of last year made matters look promising. Several new men, among them Moss, Holt, and Walt Hughes, showed ability at the game.

In the first two practice games, the Tigers ran wild over their opponents, massing up a total of 75 points to the 17 of the Pueblo Y. M. C. A. and walloping the Kistler Stationery five from Denver by a score of 85-12. The Stall and Dean team from Denver suffered a like fate to the tune of 54-23. However, the Wyoming Cowboys came down here and proceeded to drub our beasts 21-25, and all seemed hopeless.

The first conference game was with Denver University. The Tigers suddenly found themselves, although Thompson was ineligible and Flegal was playing his position. The Ministers went down by a score of 36-26. The following week the Aggies felt the sting of a 40-16 defeat.

The squad consisted of: Liljestrom and Simpson, forwards; Honnen, center; Whitehead and Flegal, guards; Holt, Moss, W. Hughes, Brown, and Thompson.

Top Row—Whitehead, Freeman, McClintock, Sabin, Bickmore, Goode, Collins.
Middle Row—Moss, Johnson, MacDougall, Pike, Sweet, Honnen.

Freshman Football

The newspapers would have you believe that there are all kinds of honor and glory in the game of football, especially in college. Perhaps there is when you can get out there and show off before a great mob of howling enthusiasts; when you know that you have something definite to work for, even if not for the love of the game. But it takes more than eleven men to make a football team.

The men that really give the Varsity the necessary practice and go out there and plug day after day with little prospect of getting a good game, and none whatever of playing in a college game, are those players who comprise the Freshman team. The team in the season of 1917 deserves a great deal of credit for the way that it showed up every night and gave the first team men some hard work.

The 1921 team was unusually fortunate in its trips. Perhaps the best taken by any team yet was that to Camp Funston to tackle the team representing that camp. Playing a losing game against the greatest players in all the country, the frosh went down to a 46-0 defeat, but they gave the big men a battle. When the Ft. Lyons Sailors came here for a tilt with the Varsity, "Rothy" let the frosh play the second half and they rolled up a score of 20-0. Later in the season they went to Ft. Lyons and were nosed out by one point, 7-6. The men showed a great willingness to work and showed promise for next year's Varsity.

ORATORY ~

Debating at Colorado College

Since the installation of a chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha in Colorado College, debating has fast been becoming one of the chief activities of the men. At the call for tryouts, a great many men interested responded and thus enabled the judges to select two very competent teams.

The Freshman-Sophomore debate instituted last year was not repeated this year, due, no doubt, to the many calls upon the men's time. However, the two college teams each took part in a contest, one with Denver University at home and one with Grinnell at Grinnell. In both debates the men showed that they had mastered the subject, and showed a great amount of time spent in preparation.

It was a rather significant fact that of the six men representing Colorado College this past year, two were Freshmen and two Sophomores. The younger men held up their share unusually well, and give promise of becoming some of the best orators in the state.

Under the management of Ernest Johnson, debating has flourished wonderfully during the past year, and has become an important line of activity. It is the intention of all those interested that more inter-class contests be held every year and that debating be rated as a major activity in the College.

The May Festival

Cossitt Gymnasium, May 7, 1917.

The usual thing happened this year—it rained, and the May Festival was forced to adjourn from the Jungle to Cossitt Gymnasium; otherwise everything went off in fine shape, the entertainment being first class and the supper all that one's heart could desire. A masque was presented with the following cast:

Y. W. C. A. Circus

McGregor Gymnasium, March 2, 1918.

"Right this way to see the wonderful swimming match."

"Popcorn, peanuts, chewing-gum."

"Only three cents admission to see the original wild man from Borneo."

These and similar expressions could be heard in McGregor Gymnasium on Saturday afternoon, March 2, while the Y. W. C. A. circus was in full swing. To say that it out-classed Ringling's would be expressing it mildly. The tight rope walking, the horse back riding, the parade, all these made the crowd sit up and take notice, but when the stirring war scene, "Facing the Powder," and the dramatization of the famous poem "Lochinvar" were over everybody admitted frankly that the 1918 circus had broken all records set by other performances.

But the circus was not the only howling success of the day—the Senior Minstrel Show also rightfully falls under that category and those who participated in it will admit that it was howling in more ways than one. Faculty and students alike suffered at the hands of the colored gentlemen, but the jokes were thoroughly enjoyed by all, even by those who were the victims of their wit.

The circus was managed by Nellie Higgins, and the proceeds were used to pay the expenses of the Colorado College delegate to the annual Y. W. C. A. conference held in the Ozarks.

Flag Rush

At 6:30 a. m. on Friday, September 14, 1918, the frosh trumpeter sounded the assembly and the clans gathered around Hagerman Hall, decorated each other with a distinguishing mark, and at the sound of the whistle rushed to the assault. The haughty sophs were massed and roped together around the Cutler flag pole, with their pennon nailed fast above them. The frosh line hit the defenders and recoiled, unable to penetrate the barrier; again and again the generals hurled their forces against the enemy but there was no gain. For fifteen long, painful, hard-breathing, clothes-tearing minutes the warriors struggled for supremacy. Perched up the pole below the flag were two sophs guarding the sacred emblem; in vain the more active frosh attempted to shin up the pole and pull down the guardians and succeeded in dislodging one but the other, by means of greased shoes and some well-directed kicks, stuck till the last. Below him the battlers writhed and tumbled, but not in the irrigation water of former times for some reason, with the frosh unable to get the advantage. At the second sound of the whistle the flag was still there and for the first time in four years the sophs were victorious.

Insignia Day

For a cap and gown our lives we pay,
Trifles we earn with three years' tasking;
'Tis frosh caps alone that are given away,
'Tis frosh caps alone may be had for the asking.

If Dr. Watson had happened into Perkins Hall on a certain Friday morning in last October he would no doubt have immediately deduced that the Colored Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was having its annual indoor full-dress parade. But if Sherlock himself had arrived upon the scene, he would have sniffed his contempt and taken a shot in the arm. And Sherlock as usual would have been right, for not the C. A. of A. O. H. was showing off, but only the newly-crowned Seniors of Colorado College.

Insignia Day this year was perforce just a little different, for the Seniors had to form their single file inside on account of the antics of old Jupe Pluv. But they made a pretty good impression and a real good picture as they swept down the aisle through the arches of flowers held by the Juniors. And the assembled students could not but feel that it was after all worth while to work up to such a dignified station in life, and sit there and have President Duniway tell you all by yourself that the world is waiting for you to keep it going and Lowell wasn't right after all.

It is a matter of little moment whether or not the precious gown has passed under the three gold balls or been unearthed in a distant closet up at "the house", for it always stands for three things: (1) the three years' labor; (2) the coming responsibility; and (3) the cheapness of cheesecloth.

DELETED BY THE FROSH

THE CAUSE

Sophomore Banquet

It has been the custom of the yearlings of the College to let it be noised about that within a month or so they expect to pull off their annual big feed. Not to go so far as to let out the date but just enough to keep the lowly frosh on their toes and the College in a state of suspense. However, this year the men of '20 slipped something over upon the green men by holding the banquet early in the year—the 21st of September, in fact, at McRae's. They managed to keep the unsuspecting frosh out of the scene of festivities for the regular banquet period and then paraded up to the College and let everybody crow with them. It was not generally thought that they had really pulled it off until they showed a picture which was clearly not especially posed by DeWolf Hopper or Charley Chaplin.

But the frosh tried to stage a come-back the next morning at chapel when they assaulted the gallant feeders under the tree and tried to tear down the ensign but were repulsed with great loss. The mouths of the Sophs were still watering from the thoughts of the good food, the tears of the Frosh moistened the sod, and the melting snow helped to make it a very picturesque landscape battle. There was standing room only and that all taken.

THE EFFECT

All-College Dances

John Milton would have waxed more poetic than ever if he had happened in at Cossitt Gymnasium the night of October 6, 1917, or again on March 23, 1918. Not on account of any beautiful landscape scene or the like, but only on account of the beauties of nature as set forth in the fair ladies present. For there were held the two All-College dances of the school year 1917-18.

The first of these Pan-College Skids was held, as usual, in the interest of the football training table, and netted a tidy sum for the worried manager. In fact, several were heard to remark that they wished they would have training tables for all the teams, for they wanted to dance some more. But the dance in itself was a huge success, and everybody had a good time. An innovation in the shape of a game room under the supervision of "Molly" Swart was one of the features of the evening, and provided a good time for all those who could not or would not dance. "Corky" Dworak handled the affair.

On the second date Leah Gregg got busy early in the season and got up one of the most successful affairs in many a moon. The proceeds were to go to the College Red Cross work, and there were several proceeds. The music was by far the best that has been noised about in the gym in a long while and everybody slid around the floor like backsliders. The game room again came in handy with even the Faculty unbending to get into it. The only thing to mar the gala fete was the 10:45 rule.

The Barbecue

"Come one, come all,
To Cossitt Hall;
I'm sure that you
Will like the Barbecue."

Dean Cajori.

And all the assembled students knew that the old year was weathering its harvest season, for only in such times does the Dean grow so voluble and so poetic. In fact, it was near the end of October and the Sophomore Barbecue was holding the boards.

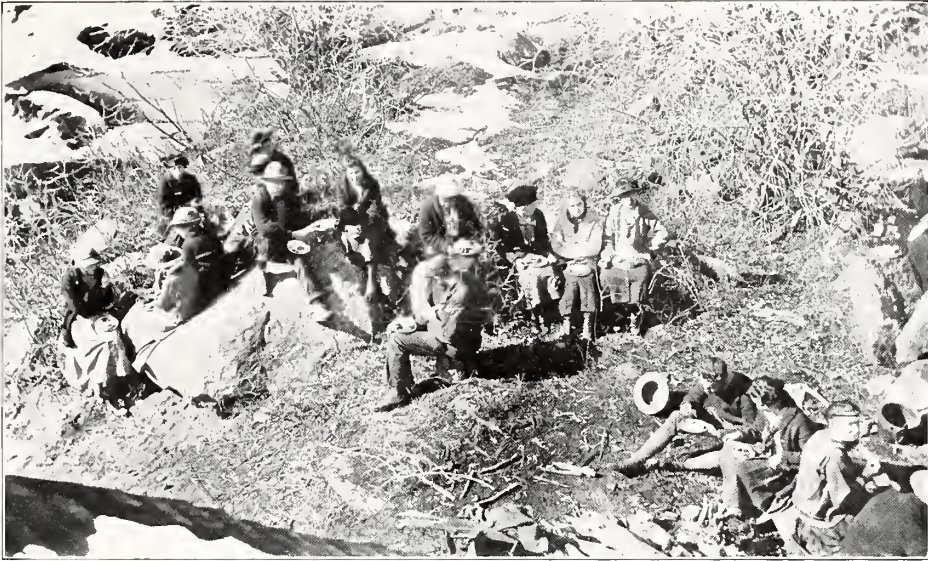

The 1920 Barbecue gave advance notice of being the best that had ever been pulled off. Manager Freyschlag and President Carter stood ready to vouch for that. And the Missourians were shown that the press agent stuff really had something behind it, for when that crowd finally piled into bed on the night of October 31, it had to agree between yawns that it was the best yet.

The feature of the evening's entertainment was the sudden display of pep and ingenuity by the infant class. The lordly sophs had been for some reason looking down upon the first-year men as a sort of spineless species of hard boiled eggs, and as a consequence took things easy. However, when the time came to produce the mighty blanket it was discovered that "les enfants" had "ditched" it somewhere. Only the pleas of the S. C. served to keep the Barbecue program intact.

As to the program, the girls pulled off a novel gypsy dance and a couple of boys dug up the frosh skulls in a parody on the grave-digging scene in "Hamlet" and Lloyd Shaw came all the way from Cheyenne School to bawl out the Faculty and, of course, "Caj" had his say. Then the frosh showed that they saw things in the right light when they mimicked the celebrities of the College in shadow pictures. Oh, and there were some good eats and a big bonfire and all the fixings that made it the best yet.

The cut at the bottom of the page shows all the students leaving before it was all over.

Pikers' Day

Every year the mighty Seniors go on a spree on Lincoln's Birthday and hie themselves away to the eternal snowdrifts, cutting all classes and carelessly throwing aside all the learning of the sages for the blissfulness of ignorance. This occasion has long been designated as "Pikers' Day", and has come to be one of the really great events in the Senior year.

This year the '18-ers had all their furnaces shot and their beds made by 6:00 a. m. more or less, and before the poor drones were up and about, they were off in the hills with their "grub". Where they went nobody has dared to conjecture, although it does seem rather hard to believe the fish story about the hike to Glenwood Springs. All the big folks brought back were some mighty cute specially-posed snapshots, some tired bodies, the tin cups, and the memories of a good time.

But the lower classmen were not to be outdone by 1918. To President Duniway's amazement, at the regular chapel hour there marched into the vacant Senior seats a company of Soph warriors armed to the eyebrows with brooms and mops; they proceeded to dust off the Senior seats and then allowed the Junior class to march down the aisle through the archway of mops and knitting needles and temporarily assume the place of honor. But the President was a good sport and paid just tribute to the masterly fashion in which the students held their "Intwignia Day" ceremonies.

All College Picnic

DEAR PATTY:

I wish you could have gotten down for the All-College Picnic. It was another best ever but quite a bit better than anything which has been labeled a best ever before. In the first place we slipped one over on the weather man; we had the picnic on Washington's birthday, Friday, and I guess friend weather man thought we would have it on Saturday and made his plans accordingly. At any rate there couldn't have been a more perfect day for an "all-college" than February 22 was. There was no special time set for the festivities to begin, but by eleven o'clock most of the picnickers were assembled and a baseball game was in full swing, President Duniway umpiring. You know the way he leads chapel, well, he isn't a bit like that when he's umpiring a baseball game. But coming back to the "all-college"—of course, as is customary, we ate at noon and food was plentiful and also good, or you might say it the other way around, good and also plentiful, at any rate you get my meaning don't you? After lunch some of the more venturous spirits climbed to the top of the gateway and those who stayed on the good old lower plain hunted for cards which were scattered about the garden, a Colorado College pennant being the prize for whoever found the most. Said prize was won by one of our promising young Freshmen men. I haven't been able to find out whether he has it now or not, probably not.

That's about all there is to tell about the "all-college". I hope, however, that by means of this brief sketch you'll realize all you missed by not coming down for it; then maybe you'll attend next year.

As ever,

MARY.

The Colonial Ball

We arrived home happy and full of pep from the All-College Picnic to find that our Colonial ancestors were already arriving at Bemis Hall for their annual earthly festivity, the Colonial Ball, and you may be sure we hastened to join them. For this big event the tables in the dining room were appropriately decorated to represent the days of our forefathers. A Colonial garden, our old friend George cutting down the cherry tree, Mount Vernon, crossing the Delaware, all of these and more were depicted that night at the festal board.

The ball itself began at eight o'clock sharp, the grand march being led by Miss Churchill and Miss Eppich, Mrs. Duniway and Miss Tate. The Colonial folk remained undaunted by the intricacies of the one step and fox trot, dancing them as gracefully and as well as any of our modern young people, but we must admit that they were truly in their element when treading the graceful figures of the stately minuet.

Flowers were conspicuously absent from the scene due to the fact that war time economy was being practiced in every way possible. It was noticed that the men of the College favored our plan and even showed a little leaning toward economy themselves in the scarcity of onlookers who generally press about the windows of Bemis to watch their great-great-grandfathers, grandmothers, uncles, and aunts frolic about.

The ball ended at ten o'clock and wearily George and Martha, James and Dolly Madison, and all the rest climbed into their coaches and drove away talking over sleepily the good time they had had and discussing what they would wear the next year when they would again come back to earth and assemble in Bemis Common Room.

Other Annual Events

PROF. ALBRIGHT AT CHAPEL:

The Birth of a Nugget

Scene: Rest Room at Monty.

Time: 7:30 any Tuesday Night.

Cast of Characters.

(See page 191.)

(Enter ye editor with a big wad of paper, cardboard, books and other et cetera under his arm. He takes a seat or two and proceeds to distribute himself and possessions all over the place. Enter Molly.)

Molly: And say, Thad, I think that it is only right that we run that man's picture for really he has done a lot for the high cost of living, and besides—

Thad: Well—(Enter Bicky all in a fluster).

Bicky: Thaddeus, I just won't have my stuff stuck back there, and—

Thad: Well, folks, we really have to help Ed out a little and cut down on expenses, and this new feature ought to make up for some of it, and I think—(Enter Nellie and Adelaide and John and Phil. They all walk up to the table and begin to look at the stuff.) Say, folks, please save the pieces; we want a Nugget some time. How yuh coming, Nellie?

Nellie: You see I've got a lot of things jotted down here which I think will go great—(Enter Duncan with his note book.)

Duncan: Here are three drawings and I have the other two almost ready and I'll get them tomorrow. It takes me longer to think of the things than to draw them.

Bicky: Say, I just can't think of another word for a feed.

John: Try "sticking on the nose bag." (Enter Kyff and Zoosie and Mary, panting with haste.)

Zoosie: I just can't think of anything new for these things; can't you give me something else to do while this is occuring to me? I'd like—

Thad: I wish you'd get a list of the five substitute soloists on the ukulele in the Student Volunteer Band. We've got to have that copy in by tomorrow noon. (Ed Hughes strolls in with a file of Nuggets under his arm.)

Ed: Say Thad, that engraving bill just can't run over fifty cents this year for you see the Government has taken over the pop-corn stand down by the Busy Corner and he can't run a full page ad this year.

Mary: Thad, I've just got to have more cuts in my section. Why, I had to walk all the way over to Palmer and back to get this picture and it ought to have a full page. Here is all my copy.

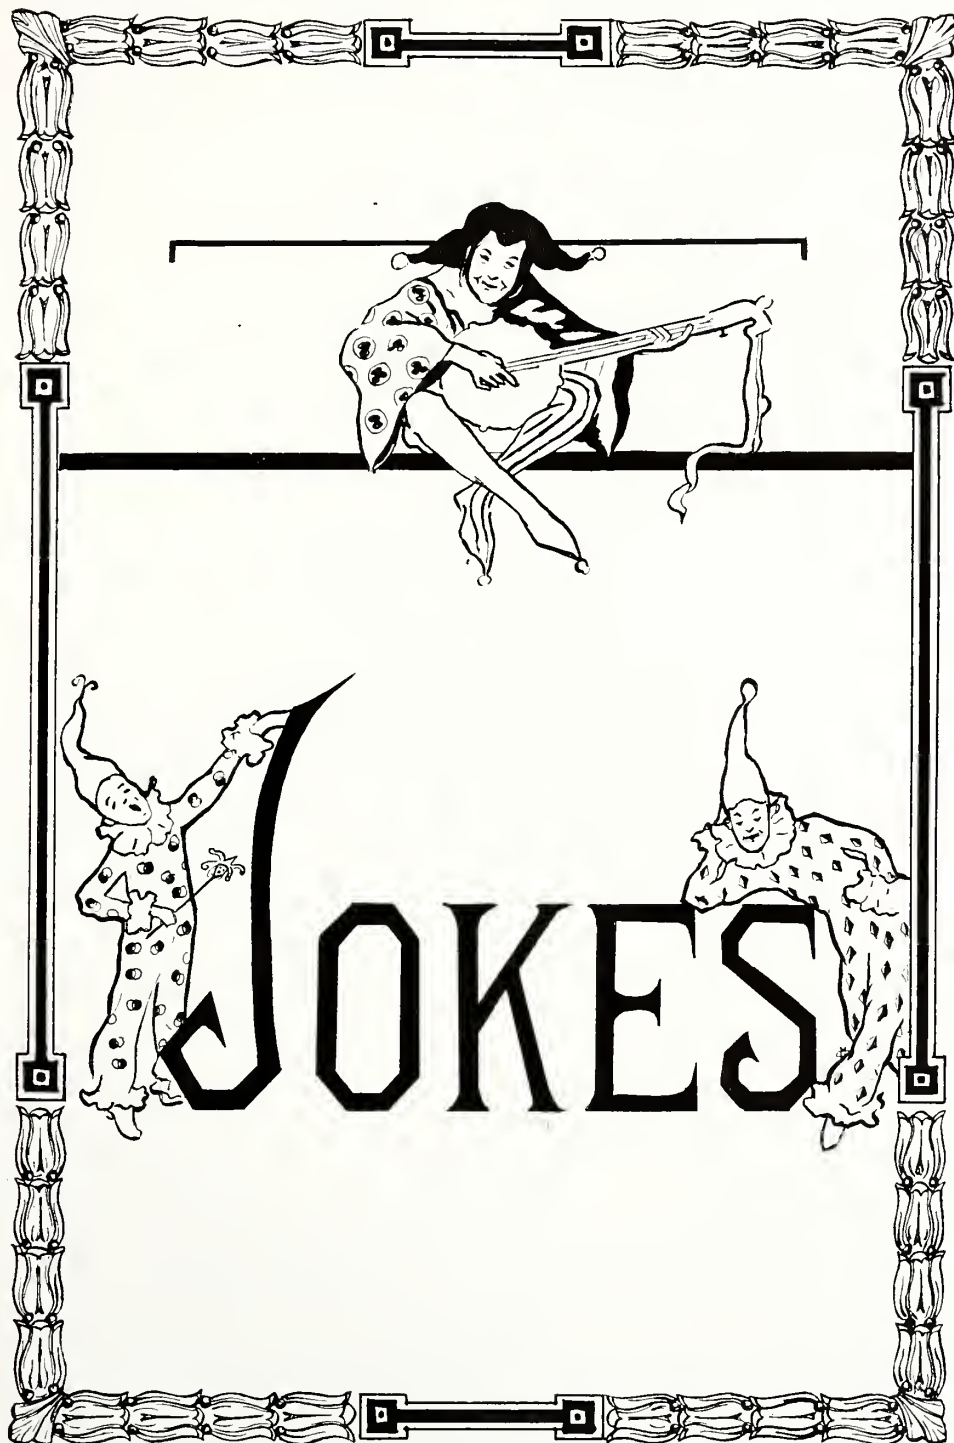

Thad: Now, let's take one thing at a time and get rid of—

Half the Board: Well, I've got to go; I have an exam tomorrow. If there is anything more to be done, maybe you can hire a stenographer, and I'll be glad to dictate it to her.

Other Half: I certainly am anxious to see it come out. We all get a copy free, don't we? Well, good night. (Exit, leaving ye ed paralyzed in his chair.)

Curtain.

Postlude—And yet the Nugget came out after all.

Please Remember

that this is not a Phi Gam year or a Beta year for the Pikes Peak Nugget—it is a Colorado College year. Therefore, if by any chance you or your group or your best friend or your girl or your fellow happens to feel the sting of sarcasm or the hurt of the truth, bear in mind that it is not just a sneaking, behind-the-back means of getting even for past grievances, but rather just an honest attempt to make you read the thing through and make you feel that your money was well invested. And remember also that perhaps after all you don't know who wrote it, even if you think you do. On with the jokes; let wit be unrefined!

Mossy Line

Bill Copeland has announced that he has sold his shirts to Jimmy Sutton because the allies couldn't hear their own guns. And then to make the matter worse Brother Sutton has flagrantly and daringly come out with one of them on and gotten by with it. O Tempora!

The Phi Gams have decided that the best way to come back is to get rid of all the alfalfa about the place—they seem to have several hays about, not counting the fever.

Three gentlemen and a Sig were riding along the other day when they happened to run over Van Kirk Buchanan and killed him. Now the joke, being dead, has no point.

"That girl looks like Helen White." "Well, she sure ought to wear black then."

And now they say that a girl brought Tommy Thompson back to our midst. She surely must be thankful.

Efficiency to the Nth Degree

The picture on the right shows our famous Plunger demonstrating the proper method of saving time in these days of war. We thought at first that it was an advertisement for Gillett, but we find that the weapon is a Gem. It is said that the gentleman practices this stunt at every week-end at least, with several extras interspersed. He has tried to convert his fraternity brothers to his point of view and form a club, but they couldn't see it that way. This was to be their coat of arms.

This Silhouette

might mean anything to you, but to us it means

One of Hite's soldiers, as he looked at first.

That Mystic Merry-Makers Mob.

Our state of mind before an exam.

" " " " " a dance.

On the Other Hand

this silhouette to us means

The same soldier a month later.

What some folks think of that M. M. M.

Our state of mind after a flunk.

What she said after we stepped all over her feet.

And what Prof. Motten said after he saw one write-up.

The Houses

911 NORTH NEVADA.

One glance at this house ought to be sufficient to tell you that this bunch believes in picking up all the spare workers on the campus. The first thing that you notice as you scale the front steps is the coat of Arms (waiting for Couture's). Behind the said coat is a door which an overdiscerning person will not fail to recognize as such. If the bunch has not closed the door as they started for the Pantages, walk right in and make yourself as miserable as you please.

You may be venturesome enough to pass on through, by the telephone booth—which, by the way, is rarely used, since they believe in the note system—and see the attraction of the house. There against the wall is placed the instrument of torture with which the impressarios initiate the ear into the mysteries of syncopation. If you don't find Rufe on the stool it'll be Gabby; if not Gabby, Rufe; if neither, both. Perhaps at this juncture you will observe several of the species draping themselves about the furniture. Since you are a stranger, they will doubtless offer you a chair, but a regular member has to cough twice before he can get a rise out of them.

Don't let them entice you into the front room to see the album, for life is too short, but chase on upstairs and see the sights. Besides other ornaments and furnishings, you may perceive a hallway, a bulletin board, and The Senior's room. Make yourself at home and take a slant at the picture on the dresser, while the owner is absent on fussing leave. If you hear a noise, you may know that the Maxim silencer has slipped off of one of Bill's shirts. If you are afraid, however, sneak down the back stairs and use the side door with the rest of the unfortunates.

1117 NORTH NEVADA.

You can tell this is an athletic bunch by the way even the banisters run upstairs, besides the President's Baseball pennant on the wall next to a wad of Rufe Mimmack's chewing gum preserved to posterity. Do a column half right as you advance and you will see Thomas in front of a fireplace, and don't be surprised if he orders you to go up and tub a Freshman.

Upstairs this bunch boasts of a good form-fitting bathtub, several rooms and a sleeping porch. If you peep into the rooms you are apt to find Chase struggling over the latest love letter or Bill Mimmack giving three rousing cheers. If in your rambles about the ranch you happen upon a somber-hued casket don't show such ill taste as to ask what it is, for it might belong to the K Sigs and has been sent there by mistake—and again it might not.

If at this juncture you hear the telephone ring, hustle down and see the wonderful sight of Hap draping himself about the receiver talking to the latest arrival from boarding school. If you value your life don't hang around, but beat it to the door double time and emerge into the pure fresh air, even if you have to leap over "Bird" Freeman's legs. They are part of the ornaments of the house.

1122 NORTH CASCADE.

The external appearance of this mansion would make you think that the bunch is just a gang of has-beens but Brer Tuck will be in the little storm corridor ready to use his persuasive eloquence to the contrary. Walk right in and throw your hat on the table like a good Fiji, turn to your left and enter the living-room (if that's what they call it), say a nice "Howdy" to Mrs. Rogers, and then start The Record on the-phonograph. Pay no attention if the Bunch comes in; there will be plenty of room, if Weldie is not with them.

In the front room will be found a piano and Moss asleep on the divan—no, the piano is not asleep for one of the musicians is probably around. When you go upstairs be sure to look first to see if Bob is whispering his nothings into the telephone—he must not be disturbed. On the second floor will be found the Bull-Pen and Tucker's room as items of interest. The double-deckers in the former will hold your attention, and The Girl's picture in the latter will put you into rhapsodies.

If Chet is not hounding his Freshmen around on the third floor you might be able to observe the relics of a mighty past in a couple of the bed-rooms—anything from Jack Taylor's last tie to one of Thompson's returned sweaters. Try to get away before they start showing you the big memory book—you will be Aw!-stricken if you don't.

1319 NORTH NEVADA.

If you are in training you can hike up to this palace in ten minutes or more, but otherwise you'd better Dodge it. You can size up this bunch the minute you see the fretwork in the main hall, or the dance programs in the card plate. Don't let "Batty" side-track you by asking for the next dance, but beat it on through and see the music shop. All that's lacking is the sounding brass and some of them can furnish that.

After Tom and Freddie have discoursed on the virtues of being a Fiddle de Tater while jazzing off "Nero, My Dog, Has Fleas," slip up and have a peep around the domicile. Don't feel intimidated at the wealth of wearing apparel that you will doubtless see displayed on the chairs about the various rooms, for that might be all of it. You will doubtless find in every room an easy chair and a nearby smoking stand, unless they have consolidated forces and bought a cot and an old plate.

The pride of the house is the huge sleeping porch, built by the brothers—with each man furnishing a plank. The double-deckers might look inviting but let not the Lotus-Eaters entice you out there, for you, too, might not get up until 9:30.

If you are lucky you may get away without having to salute an officer, but be prepared to run into anybody from Private Skinny (he has not been in long enough to absorb the militaristic spirit) to Capts. Gilly and Bo.

1106 NORTH WEBER.

You had better call up this gang first, for an upperclassman will answer the phone and you will be assured of good treatment. The side door is more handy and your footsteps won't echo quite so much. If they do echo as you go in, don't be alarmed, for perhaps Og made away with some of the furniture when he passed out his pin.

In the parlor you will no doubt be surprised to find a library, although they have given up their charter in Phi Beta Kappa since Fuzz and Funny were pledged. There is one volume on dead "Beaters of Achievement" which will surely hold you interested. You will be surprised to find on the mantel in the little hall-room a scholarship cup, but remember where you are.

Up the broad stairway you may venture without being attacked by an unknown Beta, but do not go out on the sleeping-porch, for you might stick your foot in a bucket of water as you step through the window. In the Financier's room you will find two huge office desks that look as if owners knew what the three gilded balls stand for. Maybe Kyff will play for you on his typewriter if you feel like dancing, and Don will be glad to tread a few measures with you.

Don't feel insulted if the bunch invites you to hang around a while—that's just their idea of being sociable. If Ed and Mac aren't there you may get away without a roughhouse, but if Big Ed sees you he'll ask you to run an ad in the Nugget.

* * * * *

The Locals

OMEGA PSI.

This bunch of chums has a great deal in its favor besides the Art Editor. They range from musicians to Tiger writers, with the little fellow thrown in for good measure. There is no doubt but that they have been injured by the war, seeing that Hep has left on account of military training.

This bunch is absolutely harmless and has made a good impression so far, although they have not had a Founders' Banquet or a Pig Dinner. They don't feel a bit insulted if you mistake their pledge pin for a Y. M. C. A. pin. There is a rude suspicion that one of their Freshmen is in serious danger of losing his badge. His brother ought to take care of it at once.

* * * * *

EPSILON SIGMA ALPHA.

This gang of Engineers consists of George Hollister and several members. They seem to spend most of their time initiating their pledges in a way that they will remember. They have several men who really mean well.

No one knows what officer George is, but trust him to have something to do with the money. Moreover, the earth moves around this son. He does everything from making Groth study, to taking care of Abe. Besides him, Fukey can swing a wicked paddle and C. M. boss the pledges. The other fourth wears the pin, except one foolish Sophomore.

This bunch hopes to be able to speed up enough to get a national charter, but unless they remove the obstruction, they will be no faster than a local. It is hoped that the said obstruction will quit some day, for he will never graduate.

Au, Bob!

Gentle Reader, do you see the same thing we do? Are you sure that your eyes are not deceiving you? We find it hard to believe, but cuts don't lie, even when it's a cut-up. We had thought that the young man was of a more peaceful and settled disposition, not to mention the fact that he belong to the same bunch as the fellow on the other side. Which is saying a lot, but appearances and even actions are so deceiving that you never can tell. But let's pass on from this outrage.

Anne: I had my face all fixed for Bo and it was only a bally pledge with a note.

Mr. Dice: Speaking of privately owned men— (Ah, pinless ones!)

Grace Farmer: I simply can't pronounce that word silently.

Mr. Pattee: We shall take the life of Johnson tomorrow.

Sannie McKenney: John Carter was a leader in early education. (Your frosh report card please, John.)

Frances Walker: Dr. Blackman, if it is convenient for you Miss Armstrong and I would like to be vaccinated on the week end.

Breity: What's the best thing to keep from getting drunk? Yes, I know—

Marnie Eppich: Where bouts is G. Stanley Hall?

Bill Campbell: Here comes that Green dog that bit me on the 4th of July. (We agree with Katie; My that must have hurt!)

Cossitteer: How many calories in a bug? I just swallowed one in my soup.

Duncan Hetherington: They say that the pineal gland regulates the fat deposition of the body. Mine isn't in working order.

What Is Colorado College to Colorado Springs=====?

Colorado Springs is admittedly an ideal location for an institution of higher learning. The climate is the best in the country in many respects; the scenery is unequalled in America; the surroundings and influences are all that could be desired in regard to cleanliness; and the city itself is beautiful.

To Colorado Springs Colorado College means a great deal. To have such an institution in a city results not only in financial gains but advantages in a great many other ways. The gathering together of such a group of students means an increase in trade for the business men and a direct influence on the life in general.

We business men recognize this asset which we have here and as a consequence cater to the College students in every way possible. Here at

Dixon-Miller's

we have installed blackboards reporting the progress of all athletic contests in the country; we sell tickets to all games here in town; and in every way we endeavor to attract the Colorado College men to our establishment, both for their benefit and ours. We invite the men here at any time to make themselves at home, and they may be sure of courteous and careful attention to all their wants.

THINGS WE WONDER AT

Why Is It

That the Phi Gams began to buy chewing gum as soon as Thompson started a mustn't-touch-it?

That Freddie Coldren didn't put the Hula dancer's name down on the program.

That the Cossitt hashers voted to give up engineering.

That the newly elected editor of the Nugget always feels honored until he knows better?

LIMERICKS.

There was a young fellow named Verner,
Whose looks grew sterner and sterner;
He was called to the fight,
But the girl she was white,
She accepted tho knowing 'twould ruin her.

A demon young fusser was Campbell
Who oft to fair Monty did ramble,
But to Boulder she went
And now the young gent
Has lost all his fortunes by gamble.

ONE of nature's greatest gifts to mankind are bubbling springs that flow from the depths of the earth. Among the most famous of these in the whole world are the ORIGINAL Soda Springs of Manitou. Here, the water is given up, gas charged, with a wonderful flavor that makes it delightful as a beverage and yet has marvelous health-giving qualities.

For many years thousands of people have come from all over the country to drink of these waters. The great modern bottling plant of the Manitou Mineral Water Company supplies the demand for the water in their own homes, at their clubs and cafes. The result is that now, almost everywhere you will find ORIGINAL MANITOU Table Water—Bottled with all the brightness and deliciousness of the water as it flows fresh from the spring—and sparkling with the charge of its own natural gas.

From this water is made the equally famous and delightful beverage known as Ginger Champagne—which is to be had everywhere you find ORIGINAL MANITOU Table Water—Learn to enjoy it in your home—anywhere. Information gladly given as to where you will find the nearest distributor.

FEATURE STUFF.

It was a wild, wild night on the west coast of Austria-Hungary. The moon was shining serenely down upon a land-locked leg of landscape, and the stars were shooting about in all directions. But perhaps you are not interested in this passage of time and description, for it hasn't anything at all to do with this tale, but it is sorter of interest to the poetically inclined—who are not broke. Well, the wild, wild knight kept riding along in his Ford, stopping every now and then to take it off and oil the wheels. But hist, hark!

Portraits "Luxembourg" Portraits

What is that? He hears a sound. Yea, a sombre, a deathly, a sullen, a sorrowful sound.

Could it be a groan? It was not a groan. Could it be a sigh? It was not Si. Could it be a whimper? It was not a whimper. Could it be a tearey fall. No, it was spring. He resolved to investigate.

He investigated—his pistol. He carefully and painstakingly removed the bullet and put it in his pocket. Then he aimed it carefully at the sound, gently squeezed the trigger and the Colt bucked him over.

It was good knight!

GOBS OF GOSSIP.

The Betas have reformed a great deal since the 1918 Nugget made its appearance. The lettuce cores seem to have been Hooverized this year.

But perhaps they are now burning them in the furnace.

Someone has suggested that the Betas be called the de-Betas, but that was before Coop resolved to graduate with high honors in his Sophomore year.

Russell Offutt has been accused of violently assaulting a human being. The K Sigs should look into this at once.

Portraits "Luxembourg" Portraits

However, we find upon verification that the assault was only verbal and not mineral, as was at first supposed. Our mistake!

LES MISERABLES

A fool there was and he couldn't dance;
 Even as you and I.
 But the fellows dared him to take a chance—
 Even as you and I.
 So around he went and made a date,
 And even then he was almost late,
 (But then the girl knew not her fate);
 Even as you and I.

Oh, the times we spent, and the dimes we spent,
 And the leather we wore out;
 And all for the fellow who couldn't dance;
 (And we swore, by gosh, he could never dance,
 The great big clumsy lout.)

The night of the Skid he went for his mate,
 Even as you and I;
 Tho his knees both shook as he entered the gate;
 Even as you and I.
 But somehow he managed to get her there;
 And trying the while to appear without care,
 But once in the cloakroom he sank in a chair—
 Even as you and I.

Oh, the music began, and out stepped our man
 And tripped and fell on his knee;
 He stammered and blushed when she looked askance,
 And then with a flush, "I-I cannot dance,"
 "Nei-Neither can I," 'fessed she.

NEVADA, ARIZONA, NEW MEXICO

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

January 20, 1918

The Principal,
Barnes Commercial School,
Denver, Colorado

Dear Sir:

The urgent need for qualified typewriter operators and stenographers and typewriters in the Government service still continues. Thousands of positions which pay from $1000 to $1200 per annum are now awaiting qualified men and women who have passed the required examinations.

The great majority of positions to be filled is in Washington, D. C., but there are also many local positions in the Field service to which appointments may be made, especially in San Francisco and vicinity.

The examinations are held at short intervals in all of the larger cities.

If any of your advanced students or graduates who are at least eighteen years of age, desire to enter the Government service, it is believed that most excellent opportunities are now offered to them along the lines indicated. It is requested that you call their attention to the urgent needs of the Government and encourage them to enter the examinations as soon as practicable.

Full information concerning dates and places of examination will be furnished upon request to all who make inquiry at this office.

Very respectfully,

(Signed) C. L. SNYDER

District Secretary

May You Always Enjoy Good Coffee

Abyssinia in the thirteenth century; Arabia in the fifteenth; London and Paris in the seventeenth--these were the slow steps in man's adoption of coffee as the universal, helpful, delightful beverage.

It has won, over prejudice and ignorance, its rightful place.

May you always enjoy it.

A WET DAY IN CAMP.

On the tent the drops are pattering, but your pipe is going good;
Your pal is cursing strenous, he is rustling for the wood;
You watch the creek a-rising, crawling slowly up the banks,
Then you damn yourselves most heartily for nature-loving cranks.
You begin to think that maybe, all the fools are not dead yet,
That bed'll be hell to sleep in, she's just a-soaking wet;
On your feet the rain is trickling, streams go slipping out the door;
Lazily you load your pipe, lay back and watch her pour.

Offices Used by Students in Office Practice

O profession affords a better opening for young women than that of the amanuensis. There is no more agreeable and profitable employment in which they may be engaged. Never was there a more urgent cry for efficient office help. Never was there such a demand for first-class stenographers, private secretaries and Civil Service employees.

¶ The Civil Service Commission appointed 20,000 stenographers and typists during 1917, and advises that 20,000 more will be needed this year. These positions pay $1,100 with promotion to $1,200 at the end of three month's satisfactory service.

¶ This school offers six splendid courses for your consideration, giving special attention to preparation for secretarial and Civil Service positions.

EVERYONE A PLACE

Ours is Dry Goods and Garments.

We try to do our bit in our own way, to build morals in our own store—so we may be a fit representative of our great city. A city which inspires the best in any one—one so much nearer to nature away and above anything mere ordinary. Among these stately mountains and peaks and the purest of atmosphere—environments offering the most splendid opportunity for character building. Could there be a more ideal spot for a college, a more desirable place to send your boy or girl?

They cannot come here without the greatest constructive benefit, intellectual as well as physical.

Pikes Peak and all the lesser lights, to whose towering stature all pay reverential homage, will welcome you with a sunshiny smile that never, hardly ever comes off.

As a very much lesser light, but with a corresponding facial expression, we shall do our part to make you welcome.
